Five out of seven outlets fail New Forest alcohol test purchases

Published: Friday, August 9, 2013

A test purchasing operation carried out at off-licences and pubs in the New Milton and Lymington areas of the New Forest has ended up with five cashiers being issued with fixed penalty notices.

In the operation held on August 8, volunteers aged 16 and 17 went into each establishment and attempted to buy alcohol. They went into seven shops in all. Two New Milton outlets - Anglo-Asian Stores and Central Bar - passed and refused to sell the youths the drinks. However, five others - two in New Milton and three in Lymington - failed the test, and the pair managed to successfully buy an alcoholic drink from the stores. It is illegal for the shops to sell the drinks to anyone under the age of 18. Hampshire police will be working closely in partnership with those premises to improve their staff training and tighten up their working practices to prevent any future failures. The individual shop assistants who sold the alcohol to the youths have now being issued with £90 fixed penalty notices.

PC Jason Eastwood who led the operation said:

“It was disappointing that more shops failed than passed in our test purchase operation. All off-licences should be checking ages of people if they are not obviously over 18 and asking for proof. We recommend they actually extend this to anyone who looks under 25.

“We will be speaking with the owners of the shops who failed and making recommendations to them about such things as staff training to make sure the don't fail again. Shops that continually do fail are likely to have their licence taken away.

“We would however like to congratulate the three shops and their staff who did pass the test.

“We will be running similar operation in the future to make sure stores abide by the law which is there to help protect young people from the potential dangers of alcohol.”

»»»» DID YOU KNOW THAT 80% OF PEOPLE THAT DROWN IN THE UK ARE MALE? ««««

150 people drown around the UK coast each year. That's more than those killed in cycling accidents.

And the problem isn't just dangerous sports or being out in stormy seas; the majority of deaths happen when people are near the shore, doing seemingly harmless activities like swimming or walking.

In 2012, our lifeboat crews launched 8,346 times, rescuing 7,964 people. But despite their dedication, they can't possibly be everywhere all the time. Which is why we're urging you to Respect the Water – taking just a bit more care could save hundreds of lives every year.

We want everyone to enjoy the coast and the sea, and to give the water the respect it deserves.

Here are some facts and advice to help you stay safe in and around coastal areas.

☞ THESE ARE THE MOST COMMON CAUSES OF DROWNING ☞

Rip currents can travel at 4.5mph – that's almost the same speed as an Olympic swimmer. Even if you're a strong swimmer, they can easily overwhelm you.

You need to be careful when near water or around water. Slips, trips and falls lead to around 28 coastal deaths each year.

Cold water shock can start in water of 15°C. The average temperature of the sea around Britain is just 12°C.

Drinking can really inhibit your judgement and strength. Alcohol contributes to around one fifth of coastal deaths.

Swimming in the sea is very different from swimming in a pool. Even the strongest swimmers can tire quickly – but the water never tires.

MORE INFO >

»»»» SO WHAT CAN I DO? ««««

- Swim at a lifeguarded beach, between the red and yellow flags. To find your nearest, download our Beach Finder app.
 - Never swim in the sea alone.
- Don't overestimate your ability. Even the most competent swimmers can tire quickly in the sea.
 - Don't swim too far out of your depth.
 - If you get caught in a rip current, don't panic. Don't try to swim against it, or you'll get exhausted. Raise your hand and shout for help. If you can stand, wade – don't swim. If you can, swim or wade parallel to the shore until free of the rip and then head for shore.
- Remember that, despite warm air temperatures, the water is still cold. Acclimatise gradually in shallow water.
- When at the coast, stay away from the edges of cliffs, stick to marked pathways and read safety signage.
 - Alcohol and water don't mix – don't drink and drown.

COUNTRY WATCH

Western Weekly:

8th August 2013

Colleagues,

Thank you to all of our members who visited us in the Countryside Area at the New Forest Show last week. It was great to see so many of you there. We were delighted to be visited by HRH Countess of Wessex and HRH Prince Edward on Wednesday morning. We were also joined by Chief Constable Marsh and Hampshire's Police & Crime Commissioner Simon Hayes on Wednesday afternoon. On Thursday we were graced with the presence of New Forest District Chief Inspector, Tony Rowlinson. I took the opportunity to show them all around the Countryside area and introduced them to some of our key contacts. Thank you to all who provided feedback to them about the work of the Country Watch team.

On Tuesday 20th August 2013 we will be holding another CESAR marking day for agricultural equipment. It will be held at Portmore, near Lymington. Due to funding secured from the New Forest Community Safety Partnership we are able to offer a limited number of kits for £73.40 instead of the usual price of £140. You will be allocated with a one hour slot during which to attend and it will take approximately 30 minutes to mark each item. If you are interested please let us know ASAP as places are limited and will be allocated on a first-come first served basis. PCSO Jim Hordle will finalise details with you prior to the date.

The National Wildlife Crime Unit have this week circulated the following information: An outbreak of American Foulbrood (AFB), a disease affecting colonies of honeybees, has been found in an apiary in the Stranraer area [Scotland]. The disease was confirmed yesterday following laboratory diagnosis by Science and Advice for Scottish Agriculture (SASA). Outbreaks of AFB have previously been reported and dealt with in this area over recent years.

The AFB infected hive has been destroyed as there is no permitted treatment for the disease in the UK. There are no risks to public health from AFB and no implications for the quality and safety of honey. The movement of bees and related equipment into or out of the affected apiary are under specific controls. Bee farmers and beekeepers are being urged to be vigilant for signs of the disease, to maintain good husbandry practices and to notify any suspicion of disease to BeesMailbox@scotland.gsi.gov.uk.
