

New Forest Accredited Community Safety Officer's(ACSO's) Weekly Community Bulletin

Tuesday 20th of August 2013

Hampshire Constabulary has produced a new contact poster specifically designed for people with a learning disability.

The poster is in an easy read format and explains when to use the 101 number and when to call 999.

It's being launched to support Mencap's Learning Disability Week 2013 this week, August 19 -25.

Chief Constable Andy Marsh is the constabulary's lead on disability. He said: "We've been doing a lot of work over the last few years to reach out to people affected by learning disabilities including several road shows including an open day at our training headquarters in Netley back in May.

"Some of the feedback we've received is that often people with a learning disability aren't sure when to call 101 and when to call 999.

"With this in mind, the poster had been designed in easy read, a recognised format which is accessible and clear to people with a learning disability. I'd like to thank Mencap for their assistance in designing the poster.

"In May last year, I signed up the force to Mencap's 'Stand By Me' ten-point promise to end disability hate crime and I know how devastating it can be for someone to be targeted because of disability.

"I hope that this poster, alongside the work we've been doing to engage with communities affected by disability, will encourage people to come forward to report problems they're experiencing, demonstrate that the police are here to help and that we can make a difference."

Jason Carlisle, regional campaigns officer for Mencap, comments: "We'd like to thank Hampshire Constabulary for its ongoing commitment to improving the lives of people with a learning disability in the area and supporting Learning Disability Week. As part of the week, Mencap is calling for people with a learning disability and their families to share their stories of strength, courage and achievement and tell us who their super hero is."

Learning Disability Week 2013

As part of Learning Disability Week 2013, Hampshire Constabulary is supporting Mencap's Twitter campaign #LDWeek13 @Mencap_charity (Monday, August 19 – Sunday, August 25).

Throughout the week, we will be posting pictures of the force's Disability Champions and other police officers and staff who work to support and engage with people with a learning disability from the main Hampshire Constabulary profile @HantsPolice. You can also follow our Disability Champions @DisabilityChamp.

You can find out more about the week on the Mencap website and details of local events in Hampshire and the Isle of Wight on the Mencap Facebook page.

Reporting disability hate crime

If you or someone you know has been abused, assaulted, threatened, intimidated because of disability, it could be a disability hate crime. You can call police on 101 or 999 in an emergency.

You can also report hate crimes via the True Vision website.

Call 101* when	Call 999 when
 a crime has happened	 a crime is happening
 you want to speak to a police officer	 someone is in danger
 you want advice or information	 someone is being violent

The police are here to help

*101 is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week across England and Wales. Calls from landlines and mobile networks cost 15 pence per call, no matter what time of day or how long you are on the phone.

The poster is available to download and print here.

COUNTRY WATCH

Western Weekly:

15th August 2013

Colleagues,

Thank you to all who provided feedback on the current format of the newsletter. It appears to be fine for 99% of you and opens on your computers, Ipads and smart phones. We will continue to send it out in the current format.

Last Thursday I was joined by Hampshire's Police and Crime Commissioner, Mr Simon Hayes. He spent the day on patrol with me to gain an insight into the work of the Western Country watch team. We visited a number of locations and discussed a wide variety of topics throughout the day. It was a great opportunity to show him the importance of community engagement as a tool to build trust and confidence between the Police and our rural community members. The link below will take you to his summary of the day. I have included a few photos to show his activities including meeting a group of children to talk about Countryside management, trialling new mobile data technology equipment, visiting a fishery to discuss our work to reduce poaching incidents, and a farm visit to security mark a range of equipment.

Independent Advisory Group: Approximately 80 people in Hampshire & the IoW volunteer their time to act as “critical friends” to Hampshire Constabulary to help “shape” local police services in a constructive way and make them as effective as possible. They become members of Independent Advisory Groups (IAGs) that meet 4 to 6 times annually for a couple of hours early midweek evenings. No special skills or knowledge are required. Willingness to have a voice in your community is essential! Issues range from anti-social behaviour to major crime including burglary victim crime and major organised crime e.g. farm machinery, livestock theft. We urgently need more IAG members, especially from the more rural areas of the New Forest, Romsey and Eastleigh districts. If you feel you may be able to assist (travel expenses payable) and would like to find out more please look on our website - <http://www.hampshire.police.uk/internet/about-us/join-us/independent-advisory-group-members>. You will also find an application form that can be downloaded and printed off. Alternatively email us for a copy of the application form and guidance notes. Email iag@hampshire.pnn.police.uk and we'll send you a pack.
